Trans Croatia

Trans Croatia Rijeka - Split

8 stages
467 km - 7300 hm
Paved: 63% - Unpaved: 37%

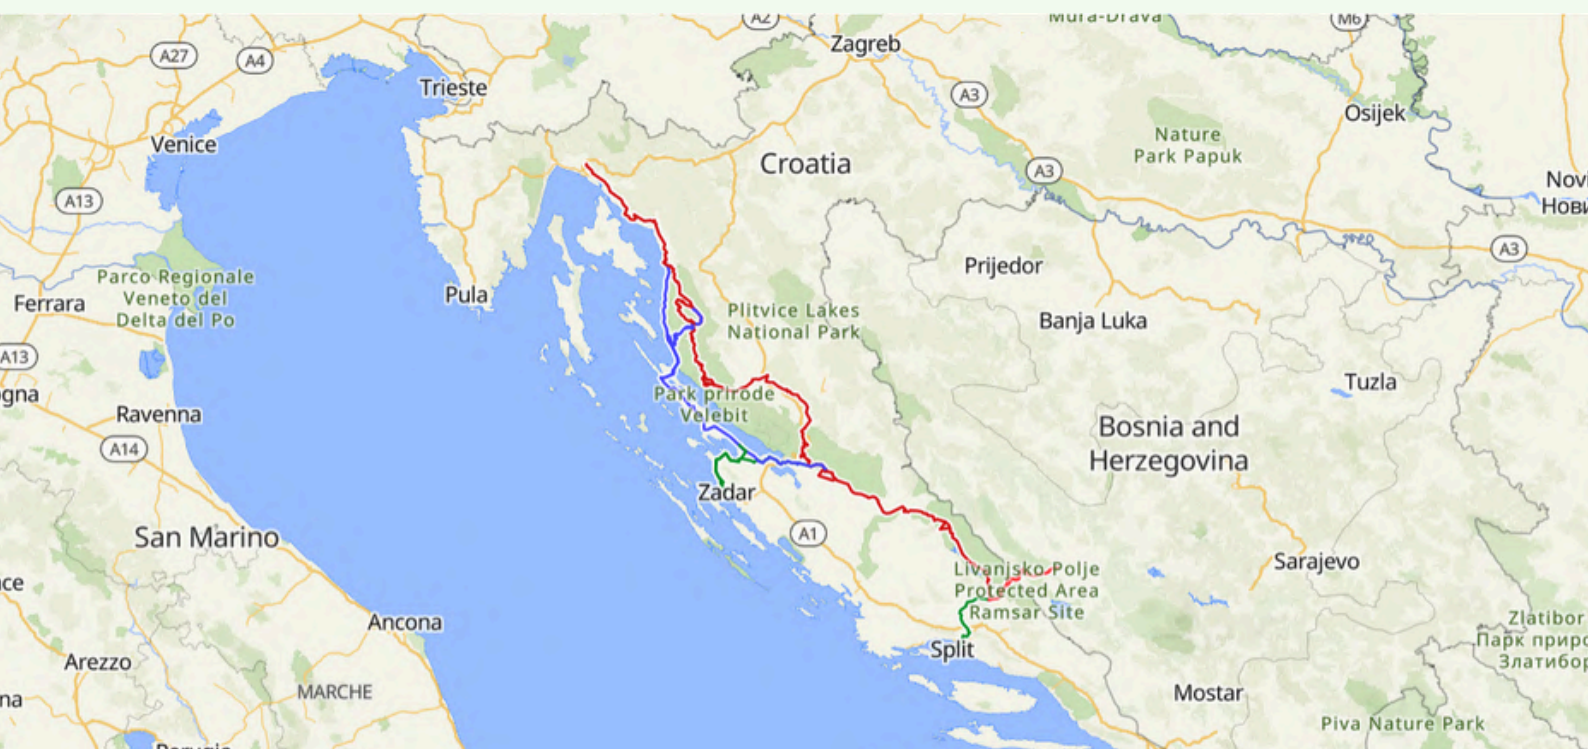

The Trans Croatia route offers an unforgettable 8-stage adventure from the bustling port city of Rijeka to the sun-drenched shores of Split, weaving through a dramatic blend of coastal beauty, highland wilderness and historic charm.

The journey begins with a ride along the rugged Kvarner Gulf, heading southeast to Senj, a town rich in maritime history and overlooked by the 16th-century Nehaj Fortress. From Senj, the trail climbs into the serene Velebit Mountains, leading to the quiet mountain village of Krasno, gateway to Northern Velebit National Park.

Then you descend toward the island-studded coast, ferrying to the lively island of Pag, with its moonlike landscapes and salt-rich heritage, finishing the day in Novalja. Crossing the island to Rtina on the mainland, the route continues through the raw beauty of the Zrmanja River canyon, where turquoise waters slice through limestone cliffs - an iconic sight of Croatia's interior.

From there, it heads to the historic town of Knin, home to one of the largest fortresses in Croatia and surrounded by scenic river valleys. The trail then winds through remote villages and green highlands to Sinj, famed for its traditional Sinjska Alka tournament, before a final descent through the Dalmatian hinterland to the vibrant coastal city of Split, where Roman history and Mediterranean energy meet.

Expect a mix of gravel paths and quiet tarmac stretches - ideal for adventurous cyclists seeking an immersive ride through Croatia's most diverse landscapes, from alpine heights to island views and ancient cities.
